

FOLLOW-UP GUIDELINES

Central Nervous System

January 2012

Clinical practice guidelines have been developed after multidisciplinary discussion based on available evidence. As the names suggests, they are to be used as guide only and do not replace treating physician's judgment which is based on multiple factors including, but not limited to, the clinical and social scenario, comorbidities, performance status, age, available resources and funding considerations.

Participation in a clinical trial is always preferred and encouraged when available.

Follow-Up for All Patients

Anaplastic gliomas or glioblastoma:

MRI at 1 and 3 months after RT,
then every 2-4 months for 2-3 years
then less frequently.

Low grade glioma including oligodendroglioma:

MRI every 6 months for the first 2-3 years then at least annually thereafter
